Important information about personal representatives

The federal Privacy Rule requires Keystone First to follow certain steps before it may provide access to your protected health information (PHI) to someone other than you. PHI is information about you that can reasonably be used to identify you and that relates to your past, present, or future physical or mental health or condition and the provision of health care to you or the payments for that care. Keystone First will release PHI to your personal representative after we receive a document that supports their legal authority to make health care decisions on your behalf (for example, a valid power of attorney, guardianship, or other legal document). Keystone First will also recognize as a personal representative an executor, an administrator, or a person recognized by law as having authority to act on behalf of a deceased member or the member's estate.

We care about your privacy

Information about your health is very personal. We are committed to protecting your privacy. Please read this form carefully. This form will need to be entirely filled out for it to be processed. This includes attaching legal documentation.

Keystone First will not treat someone as your personal representative if we reasonably believe: (1) you may be subject to domestic violence, abuse, or neglect by the personal representative; (2) treating the person as your personal representative could put you in danger; or (3) in the exercise of professional judgment (for example, in a licensed professional's judgment), Keystone First decides that it is not in your best interest to treat the person as your personal representative.

We care about your well-being

We care about your well-being. If we think your personal representative will misuse your health information, we will not give it to them.

A personal representative designation will remain in effect until the member, a court order, or a law revokes it.

Completing the form

If you name a personal representative, this form will remain in effect until it is canceled. You can cancel this authority at any time. You just have to tell us by calling Member Services at 1-800-521-6860 (TTY 1-800-684-5505). A court order or other laws can also cancel it.

To help Keystone First respond to this request, please complete this form by printing or typing into the spaces provided. Attach more pages if needed to make your request clear. Attach a copy of the document that says your personal representative has legal authority to act on your behalf.
